Appomattox County Library

By Mary Jane Hoffman

Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Kepler have presented the library with a new book in memory of Mr. J. D. Kepler. The title is A Naturalist Buys an Old Farm by Edwin Way Teale. Mr. Teale has written many books on nature but this is the story of his retirement with his wife to a farm in northestern Connecticut. In anecdotal style he tells about their search for just the right place and how they refurbished the farm house built in 1806. There are interesting tidbits of history about the nearby village such as in 1800 the local doctor made his rounds on horseback and his fee for a house call was twelve and a half cents. There are amusing incidents in living 'nine mile in unusual places and how a racoon entered an untenanted house in winter and what the owners found when they returned. This book has many beautiful black and white pictures to illustrate the farm and its surroundings. This description of two people who are "living by nature's calendar" is rewarding - living in leisurely contemplation and observation of all kinds of life and sharing with us almost an encyclopedia of nature - is like a wonderful walk as each chapter leads us gently on. We close its covers with a great sense of wonder and appreciation for God's creation in its infinite variety. The story this past week of the terrible oil spill off the coast of France makes one wonder how long this creation can exist when pollution can destroy so much and so fast as it did!

Mrs. Kepler's interest in wild life is greatly appreciated by Appomattoxans as she decorates the library and Main Street window of the School Board and leads children and other groups along her own nature trail.

Refreshments were served by the ladies of the host church at the close of the service in the fellowship hall of the church.

Despite the inclement weather a large crowd of members, visitors and friends attended the regular preaching service at the Promise Land Baptist Church Sunday. Logger John W. Davis receives Logger Merit Award certificate from Westvaco forester and VFA member, Dow Mongold.

Local Logger Recognized

John W. Davis, a logger from Dillwyn, Va., was recently recognized by the Virginia Forestry Association for the sound, fair, and businesslike manner in which he runs his woods operations.

Davis was unable to attend VFA's annual meeting and awards luncheon on January 29, 1978. So this week the Virginia Forestry Association went to the woods to present Davis with his Logger Merit Award Certificate and a free one-year gift membership in the association.

Upon arrival they found John Davis enrolled in the cab of his new Prentice 210 loader topping off another tandem load of hardwood pulpwood destined for Westvaco's wood yard at Dillwyn, Va. On hand to make the presentation was Dow Mongold, a Westvaco forester and FVA member.

Mongold pointed out that Davis had just moved his equipment and crew in that morning. Even so, the crew will have delivered eight loads by quitting time, which is typical of Davis' production oriented operation.

Recipients of the Virginia Forestry Association Logger Merit Award are selected on the basis of a written evaluation of their total logging operations. The logger must harvest timber according to a forest management plan, and he must cut and remove all designated wood while utilizing any merchantable wood within the trees harvested. He must also protect remaining timber stands during thinning and harvesting operations. The logger must practice good watershed management and conduct his wood harvesting operations in a sound, fair and businesslike manner. Understanding of Virginia's forest conservaiton laws must be exhibited regarding fire and timber harvesting. Extra consideration will be given for his promotion of good forestry practices and clean water.

The Logger Merit Award is the first program of its kind in Virginia. To date, 18 loggers have been recognized.

Good logging practices are an important way to prevent soil erosion and maintain water quality. Virginia Forestry Association is an organization of landowners, foresters, tree farmers, conservation - minded citizens and the forest products industry, founded in 1943 to promote wise use of forest and water resources of Virginia. The Association has approximately 1400 members. Nomination forms for the Logger Merit Award may be obtained from: One North Fifth Street, Richmond, Virginia 23219.

Eating Well

What is the primary goal of a person who is about to go on a diet? Usually he wants to lose weight and lose it quickly. At this point most people ask, is there a pill I can take that will make me lose weight quickly" The pill that some people take is referred to as a diuretic. A diuretic works by stimulating the kidneys to take more water out of the body and excrete it a urine. The scales will show that the user has lost pounds, but if he stops the pill and takes in water, the pounds will come right back. The average man has about ten gallons of water in his tissues. This amounts to approximately 80 pounds. A person can lose about eight pounds before he starts to get into trouble. However, a fluid loss of 12 to 16 pounds can cause death.

The weight loss that a person obtains from taking a pill could also be brought about by putting on a sweat suit and exercising or merely by sitting in a steam room. The person weighs heavier in the sweat suit and exercising or merely by sitting in a steam room. The person weighs heavier in the sweat suit but it is lost. All he has to do is drink fluid and he will find that he has gained the weight back.

Calories do count. In order to gain one pound, we need to eat 3,500 calories more than we use. The same is true if we want to lose one pound – we need to eat 3500 calories less. Mose people who gain one pound a week. Or two pounds a month. At the end of ten month they have managed to put on 10 to 20 pounds. After two yars they may suddenly become aware that they are 40 pounds overweight. Nothing fits and they want to lose weight but, they want to lose it fast. Remember, it takes a long time to put weight on, and it should take a long time to take.it off. If you lose a lot of weight at one time, it could be dangerous. A ten pound loss is one to two pounds a week. Even a weight reduct ion diet should have a variety of foods from the Basic Four Food Groups. Always check with your physician before going on any diet. He can give you the best advice.

Mushrooms Make It A Party Snack

As smart hostesses are discovering dozens (if not hundreds) of delicious serving mushrooms, production is increasing by the millions of pounds each year.

The use of domestically grown mushrooms reached a new high during the year, some 2,747,100,000 pounds according to the USDA Crop Reporting Service. This is about 37,000,000 pounds more than the year before.

If you wish to make a quick, easy party idea which can be served at brunch, lunch or as a buffet specialty, do try Party Baked Mushrooms on Toast. If you never can let well enough alone, add a few grains of nutmeg or powdered onion or onion juice, or perhaps a pinch of crumbled tarragon leaves to this recipe.

PARTY BAKED MUSHROOMS ON TOAST

1 pound fresh mushrooms
10 slices (1/2-inch thick) Italian bread, toasted
1 cup heavy or light cream or half and half
1 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon ground black pepper

Rinse, pat dry and trim stem ends of mushrooms; cut large mushrooms in half; set aside. Butter a 9 or 10-inch pie pan. Arrange toast around bottom and outside edge of dish. Pile mushrooms in center. Mix cream, salt and black pepper. Pour over mushrooms. Cover tightly with foil. Bake in a preheated moderate oven (350°F.) until mushrooms are cooked, about 30 minutes. Yield: 6 portions.

Hints For Homeowners

NEED MORE SPACE?

Ask any group of homeowners what's the biggest problem in living today—after saving energy—and chances are they'll say "not enough space."

One way to beat the problem is by making better use of existing space. Hardware and home improvement centers are full of products today specifically designed to answer the widespread cry for "more space!". Look at shelving—compact, simple-to-install decorative and utility shelves and brackets that are size-adjustable for family rooms, basement or garage walls, under stairs, in closets. By planning ahead, storage can be arranged according to use frequency, with the active items nearest at hand, next the "sometimes" or seasonally needed, and finally "dead storage"—a category to be periodically checked for possible discards.

The tools required for the job are no more than a screwdriver and a good measuring tape, like a Luftkin with a blade that locks firmly in position when extended and has an end hook—so you can accurate one-hand measuring. At the same dealer's you'll find a variety of different screwdrivers that have the advantage of larger cushioned handles needing less turning muscle.

Other space savers are sliding or bi-fold doors, sized to fit into existing closet openings. When doors don't have to swing open into a room, more space becomes available for storage furniture.

INNER SPACE – One solution to not having enough room in your home is to make better use of existing space.

Is your garage bulging with ladders, bicycles, lawn mower and barbecue grill? Consider a yard storage building you and a family helper can assemble from a kit in a weekend. They're like "painting by numbers," and assembly is just as easy. Made of durable wood, they can be finished to match and live in style with the house for its lifetime.

There's lots of unused space around, so why not put it to work!
